Simplicity has found a new home.

Distinctive design. Detailed craftsmanship. Dedicated team members. A simplified approach to building. We design and build customized homes that begin at $500,000 and range in size from 2,000 to 5,000 square feet. By carefully following our disciplined process, you'll experience extraordinary results – a timeless home built in an efficient time line and within your budget.

Simplicity and the right fit.

In-fill construction in long-established neighborhoods presents a challenge – how a new home feels and fits in relation to its neighbors. This challenge is mastered by Elevation Homes, a division of Streeter & Associates. Elevation works with select designers and architects to design and build homes that reflect the existing framework of the neighborhood, while accommodating today's lifestyle needs.

“The idea is to simplify the home building process,” explains Project Director, Nate Wissink. “We consolidate the process of home building into three months of design and four to eight months of construction. We have unique opportunities and expertise in purchasing land and effectively navigate the details of in-fill building regulations.”

As a single source, we work smarter and more efficiently.

Elevation is a single source for your building needs. Real Estate professionals. Designers. Draftsman. Project and Construction Managers. All the expertise you need under one roof.
